So as to avoid misunderstandings between us and with your neighbors, this community's rules and regulations have been created to provide you with written standards and procedures. They will be provided to new residents (and existing residents upon updating). Please read them carefully—every year and as needed.

Please understand that failure to read or lack of comprehension of these rules and regulations is not justification for violations. Therefore, if you need further clarification, please call us. We will be happy to meet with you.

The resident is responsible for seeing that their guests and service personnel, as well as all persons residing in their home, abide by these rules and regulations. The resident, parents, legal guardians shall stress safety and supervise their children.
